What’s the Lifeline?

24/7
free and confidential support to people in suicidal crisis or emotional distress

184
Independent centers across the country

The Lifeline connects more than 80% of callers to a call center on the first routing attempt (within 30 seconds after the greeting) and around 95% on subsequent attempts (within 60-90 seconds
after the greeting)
If a local center is unable to answer, the call is rerouted to one of our national backup centers.

2020

Why were only 84% of Lifeline’s calls in Delaware answered in-state in 2020?

If a state or locality does not provide funding to a local crisis center, their ability to effectively serve all community members is lowered. Lifeline call centers in Delaware set the hours and coverage areas for when they will take Lifeline calls. They do this based on funding and staffing levels.

Despite their best efforts, periods of high call volume can affect crisis centers’ capacity and longer wait times can occur. When a local call center is unable to answer, the call is routed to one the Lifeline national backup centers.

When calls are re-routed to centers out-of-state, Delaware callers in crisis often wait two to three times longer, receive fewer linkages to effective local care, and are more likely to abandon their calls.

Investing in crisis centers is investing in your community

These call centers are key components of Delaware’s behavioral health systems. They are a vital entry point for coordinated care, providing critical services for Delaware residents at serious risk.

911=$

A typical 911 call results in thousands of dollars in cost to taxpayers

Calls to Lifeline call centers cost a fraction of a 911 call

An emergency department visit or hospitalization is also much more costly

Emergency medical services are dispatched for only 2% of Lifeline calls, reducing the burden on law enforcement and emergency medical resources so they can better respond to other public safety needs

Lifeline callers report significant reductions in psychological pain, hopelessness, and anxiety after speaking with a trained crisis center worker.

Over two thirds of our crisis centers provide suicide prevention and other mental health training within their communities

Investing in crisis centers puts money back into the community by supporting local resources, local research, workforce development and local businesses

Here’s How You Can Help
